

ELIZABETH CITY WINS FIRST HALF

Tidewater League Season Divided Into Two Parts and Fresh Start Made.

Norfolk, Va., July 6.—Elizabeth City won the first half of the Tidewater League championship, and to-day the clubs in that circuit started all over again with an even break for all.

President Hannan announced last night that the pennant race would be split into two sections; Elizabeth City has won the first, and if any other club beats her out for the second section the two winners will play a special series of games for the pennant.

This arrangement has been tried with success in several leagues, and it always adds to a race. In the first place it prevents a walk-away by one club, and next it gives the weaker clubs a chance to strengthen their teams and get in the race.

The awarding of the first pennant to Elizabeth City was decided yesterday afternoon by a telegraphic vote, as the Tarheels are 75 points ahead of Norfolk, the second club. Guilhean has made a great hitting for the BSG, and the two college pitchers, Robertson and Stafford, have been consistent winners. The fans of Elizabeth City are boosting their team as the winners of the final leg of the race.

The class of baseball handed out in the Tidewater League at the present time is 50 per cent better than at the opening of the season. The reason of this is that when the Tidewater League opened the clubs had been together but a short time, and naturally the fielding was a bit ragged. Now all of the teams are playing good ball, and with the exception of Norfolk and Portsmouth are drawing like wildfire. The latter towns are picking up in attendance, and the league officials are sure they will win a great portion of the patronage.

The standing of the clubs is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Elizabeth City.....	44	28	.658
Norfolk.....	39	28	.582
Portsmouth.....	26	29	.553
Suffolk.....	24	34	.500

"BAX" JOHNSON MUST PAY $1,000 DAMAGES TO JOHN M. WARD

New York, July 6.—The United States Circuit Court to-day found a motion to set aside a verdict for $1,000 granted John M. Ward, the old-time baseball player, against "Bax" Johnson, president of the American League. Ward recovered damages for slander, based on an alleged statement of Johnson in 1909, when Ward was defeated for the presidency of the National League.

It is planned to have the visitors appear before the meeting of the Finance Committee of the Council, which will meet Wednesday night, July 19, to consider the ordinance introduced at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce, asking an appropriation of $5,000 from the city for the purpose of improving the roadways within ten miles of the city which is now permitted under a bill introduced and passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Captain St. Julien Wilson was another of the speakers. His remarks covered in general the progress now being made throughout the State in the matter of road improvement. He was glad to find that work was being pushed on the Richmond-Gordonsville road, and expected that within a few days another organization would be formed which would undertake to push the work of construction from Gordonsville to Washington.

Head Converter.

L. B. Manville, in charge of the forces now at work on the road from Newport News to Richmond, told of the progress he had made. "We have," said Mr. Manville, "converted a road which was almost impassable into a good road at an average cost of about $200 a mile, and we will ultimately have one of the best roads in the State, or in any State, for that matter." He invited the members of the organization to take a trip over the road to see just what had been done. "It will prove an object lesson and will give you something to talk about when you get back home," he concluded.

John Saunders, supervisor of that portion of the road which lies between Chickahominy and Ground Squirrel, a distance of about seven miles, said that he had the road in a passable condition. "It has been graded and ditched, and if you gentlemen want to add any fella and furbelows, you are at liberty to go as far as you like. I have no objection to your spending as much money as you want."

He further stated that work of construction on the new steel bridge which will supersede the wooden structure over the South Anna at Ground Squirrel would be begun about August 1, and that the road would be closed from then until the bridge was completed, about September 1.

Highway on Eastern Shore.

J. J. Turner, of Louisa, reported progress in his section, and stated that nearly all of the money needed had been subscribed. "There is yet a little more soliciting to be done, but we will have the money in hand in a short while."

An interesting feature was brought out by J. A. Potts, of Williamsburg. "Pretty soon there will be a direct road from New York City, on the north, to Cape Charles. Mr. Du Pont, the powder man, has given $2,500,000 to build that portion of the highway lying in Delaware. There is a short stretch in Maryland and then through Virginia. The tourists traveling this road will ship by ferry across from Cape

Charles to Old Point, and then make the run to Richmond, up by Gordonsville, through the Valley and on to Washington. I expect to see this highway completed before many years roll over my head."

The meeting of the National Highway Association will be held here October 30-31, and many of the delegates to the convention will travel to Richmond in their own cars. It will be the endeavor of all of those interested to have the roads leading into Richmond in good condition before the convention is held.

Park-to-Park Boulevard.

W. C. Saunders, of Henrico, stated that plans were now in the office of the State Highway Commissioner for the park-to-park boulevard from Byrd Park to Joseph Bryan Park, a distance of about two miles. The city has been asked for $25,000 for this purpose, and the matter has been referred to a committee composed of the Highway Commissioner, Supervisor Saunders and the City Engineer. This committee is nearly ready to report back to the Finance Committee, after which it is believed that favorable action will be taken by that body, for within a few years, under the normal growth of the city, the boulevard will be within the corporate limits.

Just as soon as the committee appointed for the work gets together here later in the month it is thought that the three days' work will get the mauling $4,000 needed, and the work will then be pushed rapidly to completion.

Those in attendance at the conference were Supervisor John Saunders, Supervisor W. C. Saunders, M. C. Armstrong, Judge Sims, St. J. Wilson, W. W. Turner, W. E. Cottrell, L. P. Manville, L. A. Folger, L. M. Foster and J. A. Potts.

GOOD ROADS WORKERS HELD CONFERENCE

Executive Committees of Richmond-Gordonsville and Richmond-Old Point Highways Discuss Plans for Raising Funds in Richmond. Campaign July 18, 19, 20.

At a conference between the executive committee of the Richmond-Louisiana-Gordonsville Highway Association and the Peninsula Good Roads Association, held in the club rooms of the Richmond Automobile Club yesterday noon, it was decided to continue the campaign to raise $10,000 in Richmond to complete the highways between Richmond and Gordonsville and Richmond and Newport News on July 18, 19 and 20. E. C. Pelouze, who headed the committee from the local organization which raised $4,000, was named chairman of the new committee, and he will be assisted by N. E. Cottrell, of Hampton; M. C. Armstrong, of the same city; W. W. Turner, of Louisa; C. Saunders, of Henrico, and J. A. Potts, of Williamsburg. These men will gather in Richmond on the morning of July 18, and in an automobile will tour the city, visiting all business men who have not already subscribed.

In view of the fact that no organization existed for legally distributing and receiving such sums of money as might be subscribed, the Richmond Highway Association was formed from those in attendance at the conference, and Horace S. Hawes was named as president, Allen Potts as vice-president and E. C. Pelouze as secretary-treasurer.

Cottrell Enthusiastic Members.

W. E. Cottrell talked to those present of the work which had been accomplished on the peninsula. He pointed out that the question of raising funds was not a begging campaign, but a straight business proposition. "The business man," said Mr. Cottrell, "is always willing and glad to contribute to a cause which will save him time and dollars. If the advantage which goes with the construction of a modern highway is pointed out to the business man in the proper way he will come across. He simply can't help it." "Suppose, for instance, a man in Richmond was doing business with a man in Charles City. At present the goods are handled three or four times. Think of the time consumed under these conditions. But with good roads the merchant can load the purchase on his wagon, and in four or five hours deliver it to the purchaser. The question of breakage is also to be considered. I am sure that with the facts stated properly and forcefully to the men who know that little trouble will be found in raising the money."

It is planned to have the visitors appear before the meeting of the Finance Committee of the Council, which will meet Wednesday night, July 19, to consider the ordinance introduced at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce, asking an appropriation of $5,000 from the city for the purpose of improving the roadways within ten miles of the city which is now permitted under a bill introduced and passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Pertinent Comment

BY GUS MALBERT

This little monologue shall now be entitled "The Renaissance of George Cowan." The term renaissance is used advisedly, for was not this very George Cowan, the new manager of the Richmond baseball team, once thrown to the discard by this same Richmond team, after which he wore a Norfolk and a Portsmouth uniform—not at the same time, of course?

Fully cognizant of the fact that a new broom sweeps well and all that, the assertion is nevertheless made that George Cowan will make good if not half way in the matter of players. He has demonstrated the fact this season, as never before, that he can stand the gaff. Playing with a team which has been going badly almost from the beginning of the season, he has consistently worked hard, and has not quit for a moment. Not only has he done this, but he has been in every game but one, and has caught many more than half the games played. His new honors are deserved.

Cowan knows baseball, and he is popular with the men. They will work for him, and showed it yesterday. Richmond is not going to win all of the games played, nor is it expected. But it is expected that Richmond will play good baseball even in defeat, and that Richmond will try to win at all stages of the game, no matter how certain defeat may be. That's all that a fair-minded public asks. And George Cowan is the man to do it.

Baker showed yesterday that he is valuable in more ways than one. He was on the catching line for a few brier moments yesterday—all too short—and proved that a little more service for him in this business would help. He had the ginger, the far-sightedness and the voice to make himself heard, and his presence was felt by the opposing players; not a small asset by any means.

Owner Bradley returned yesterday from New York, bringing Johnny Priest in tow. The boy was in the game yesterday, and he made two errors, but the way he handled himself in the field, and especially at the bat, made atonement for his errors. He has not played for some time, and this undoubtedly affected his fielding. That he will improve goes without saying.

The owner of the locals gives every assurance that he is going to get some pitchers. He realizes that he needs some, and has started the wheels going by which he hopes to land a couple. A catcher will be here to-day, and it may not be surprising if that catcher is our old friend, Sid Lodge. A telegram was sent him, and an answer is expected soon. He promised that if the local club needed his services he would come. He has been playing amateur ball since he left, and is, therefore, in condition to work.

Richmond by winning yesterday is again tied for third place. If Petersburg will lose to-day—but the trouble is that Petersburg wins mostly when we do and loses when we lose. Yesterday dropped to fifth place. Just five games separate Richmond from Norfolk. That's a mistake. It is only three games, for surely we will win three straight.

Here is how the Colts batted yesterday: Martin got two out of two; Priest and Dobson two out of three, and Wallace three out of four. The team was at bat thirty-one times for twelve hits, or a percentage for the game of .387.

A fast double play in the ninth kept Norfolk from scoring. Walsh and Walsh both hit safely. Walsh was forced at second by Phelan, who in turn tied on the double from Martin to Dobson which retired Kircher.

Johnny Shaw, by the way, made only four hits out of four trips. The beauty of Verbuut's pitching was that he kept his hits well scattered.

Mattis hit to the deepest part of center field for three bases. It will stand as the longest hit in the Broad Street inclosure for many days.

In the third inning yesterday Verbuut caught Staub in between bases, and Martin and Dobson were running him down. Just as Martin had him he threw a throw from Dobson and Staub was safe at first.

Phelan got an error when he missed Wallace's foul fly, which was an easy chance.

What to many seemed poor judgment on the part of Priest was on the proper stunt. Phelan was on and nobody was down. Kircher was up, and the natural play was a bunt. Under these conditions it was up to Priest to cover first, letting Dobson handle the bunt. A double play might have been made had Priest been there to cover second, but he was at his post of duty, and there is no censure coming to him, even though Phelan landed safely on second.

If the consent of Jesse Burkett can be secured Jack Anthony, the local boy, will join the Petersburg club in a few days. Should the deal be pulled off Anthony will make Busch a valuable man, and he will not stay with the minors long. Anthony is fitted for fast company, and he will get there.

Priest suffered some hard luck in the fifth. After being walked he went to second on a wild pitch and could have reached third, but that he tripped and fell. He is a mighty fast man on the bags.

Richmond now has about the youngest and classiest infield in the league. In fact, the entire club is made up of very young fellows. Let's hope that youth will exalt his toll.

Not a day but sees a change in the big leagues. The Phillies are no longer leading in the National League, Chicago going to the front. To-day it may be Chicago, New York or the Phillies. The Athletics, by losing to Cleveland, widened the gap between themselves and Detroit. The Tigers not playing.
